TERRITORY

Is the speech reflects the practice of the territories?

Can we speak of a degree of territorial decentralization of the state?

Does the institutional organization of the state contributes to the effectiveness in the territorial level?

There is a contradictory context for the development from the territory: Open Discourse that encourages participation and involvement of the territories, however, the framing in which they operate is highly restricted.

FINAL CONSIDERATION ABOUT SOME CURRENT TRANSFORMATION

- August 2010:

ANPP: approved a new amendment to the political-administrative division. The proposed changes are intended to facilitate the work of governments and administrations in each territory.

Ley No. 110/10 de la Asamblea Nacional del Poder Popular (ANPP) Modificativa de la Ley No. 1304 del 3 de julio de 1976, de la División Político Administrativa, publicada en la Gaceta Oficial de la República de Cuba en No. 023 Extraordinaria del 2 de septiembre de 2010.

Could be been to the doors of a new political-administrative division?

- August 2011:

Adoption of the “experiment” to separate the management of the CAP and the Provincial and Municipal Assemblies of People's Power (Artemisa y Mayabeque).

- July 2012:

Ley No. 113, "Del Sistema Tributario".

The law establishes a Land Tax for Local Development, which are required companies, corporations totally Cuban capital and cooperatives, for their facilities without prejudice the municipality in which they are engaged.

- Res.170 de 2014:

Gradualism in the implementation of the Land Tax delay the impact of collection.

The income obtained by the CAM (Land Tax for Local Development), is used to finance activities under the Plan of Economics.

- April 2014:

Lack of a territorial perspective on the new FDI Law in 3 elements: There are 3 levels of approval, none involves local / Difficulty governments to undertake FDI in the village / Exemption from payment of the special contribution to territorial development during the period payback (Art.42), referred to as an incentive in the law of FDI.
